

Outline

SPORT: Participants job-shadowing the sports teacher at Istituto Zaccaria will observe and assist in dynamic physical education classes, learning how to structure engaging activities that promote teamwork, fitness, and skill development. They will gain insight into the planning and execution of lessons tailored to diverse age groups, from warm-ups to advanced drills. Participants may assist in organizing school sports events, managing teams, and implementing inclusive activities for students with different abilities. They'll also learn about the teacher's approach to fostering discipline, motivation, and collaboration among students, while exploring innovative teaching methods to integrate physical education with overall student development.

Learning outcomes:

SPORT:

- Learn how to structure engaging activities that promote teamwork, fitness, and skill development
- Gain insight into the planning and execution of lessons tailored to diverse age groups
- Offer a broader variety of activities
- Be able to organize school sport events, manage teams, and implement inclusive activities
- Discover new ways to improve student collaboration, discipline, and motivation
- To ensure that the job-shadowing program is effective, we plan on ensuring that the teachers will always speak before-hand with the participants, so as to start the collaborative process since the first lesson. Furthermore, by the hands-on approach that the sports job-shadowing demands, we believe that we will be able to measure in real-time the effectiveness of the desired learning outcomes thanks to the response of both students and participants to the variety of activities proposed.

Participants requirements:

- Experience in the sports education world.
- Prior experience working with students with diverse abilities

Validation:

- To validate participants learning, there will be various learning objectives and rubrics created by our school in order to track process and assess how the job-shadowing is progressing
- The school will release a certificate of completion alongside the hours spent and the objectives met IF the training is managed in cooperation with one of our partners.
- At the completion of the program, participants will take part in a written review of their experience in order to give us anonymous feedback that will enable us to assess the course content, its delivery and its effectiveness.
